

Philippians

Epistle BRI

Critical Method

If you just want to type this is the way to do it. It will save as you go and you never have to think about it the rest of the year.

Here the thing, yep yep it works with ctrl+s

Authorship

Internal Evidence

Ok one more time to see if things are really working the way they should. I guess at this point they seem to be working pretty good. I don't know about the virtual keyboard thing and the autosave. But time will tell. This should give people a pretty good understanding of what they are doing as they type.

External Evidence

If you like green there is always this little feature. There is no doubt that some would like it. After a while it would become obvious that they really do not think about formatting all that much. If they want to highlight something or whatever it is pretty easy.

Conclusion

Dating

Internal Evidence

External Evidence

Conclusion

Recipient

Internal Evidence

External Evidence

Conclusion

Historical Method

Survey Method

Signature Please sign if you have done all the required readings:

Your name here

This is below the bottom a bit but it seems to work now. Not sure what the dealio is.

I don't know if this is a limit on how far you can scroll or what.

This is a pretty big thing no sure what the difference is.

- Bullet
- Bullet
- Bullet
- Bullet
- Bullet
- Bullet

Now we got some weirdness going on.

Not sure how else to explain this.

Has to do with the measurements.

Well let's see if this matters at all.

Not really

Not sure what this is all about but it is fried

Ok one more time bucko You suck.

Let's try this again.

Footnotes:

1. This information was taken from many sources and adapted for use in Studyworx.
